Introduction to Assessment

Assessment is essential to verifying the efficiency and effectiveness of our educational program. Through our assessment policy, we address the requirements of the Primary Years Programme as described in the International Baccalaureate literature in conjunction with respecting the MEES (Ministère de l'Éducation et de l'Enseignement Supérieur.)

Assessments (formative and summative) occur throughout the academic year. Ministry required reporting to parents occurs through the use of standardized report cards and issued three times a year. Grade-level appropriate, self-evaluation reflections of IB attributes supplement our assessment protocol.

The following document has been prepared to inform and guide Clearpoint's professional staff members, parent and wider community and students to ensure the implementation of our assessment policies.

Purpose of Assessment (Connection with PYP)

At Clearpoint Elementary we follow the guiding principles of assessment as stated in the IB Learning and Teaching document. As such, assessment is a means to inform learning and teaching. This involves the gathering and analysis of information to guide teaching practices. Constructive feedback is provided to both students and the parent community. Formative assessment guides planning and instruction, ensuring student engagement. Assessment practices respect the IB Primary Years Programme goals & objectives.

At the heart of this policy is the development of the essential elements that encourage life-long learning:

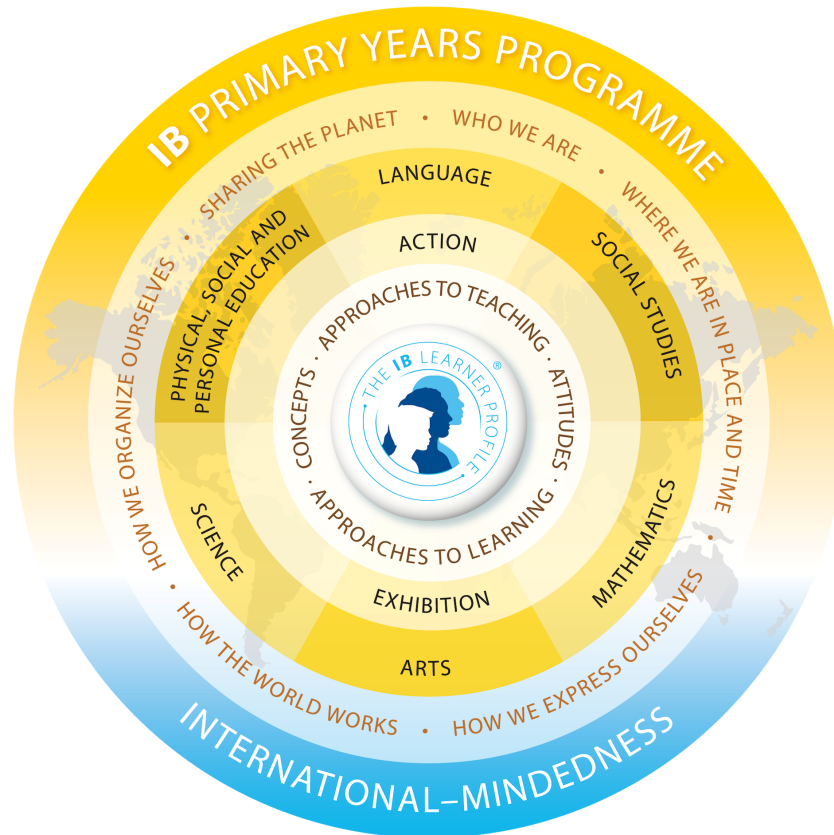

- the acquisition of knowledge
- the understanding of concepts
- the development of the learner profile attributes
- the development of approaches to learning
- the promotion of student-initiated action
- the promotion and opportunity for student agency

Our Assessment Policy has been updated to meet both the requirements of the IB Primary Years Programme (PYP) and the Quebec Education Program (QEP). This policy is a living document which is a reflection of our ever-expanding expertise as an International World School within a province where inquiry takes place in two languages (English & French).

“Evaluation is the process whereby a judgment is made on a student’s learning on the basis of information gathered, analyzed and interpreted, for the purpose of making pedagogical and administrative decisions. “

Quebec Ministry of Education, Evaluation of Learning

The PYP Program Model Overview

School Philosophy

At Clearpoint Elementary our focus is on the development of the whole child evolving within the International Baccalaureate program in combination with the MEES (Ministère de l'Éducation et de l'Enseignement Supérieur) requirements. We value a strong relationship among the learning community including, the administration, staff members, students and parent community and wider community members.). Together, we are invested in this cherished venture.

We strive to educate responsible citizens of the world through an inquiry-based international program. All students are encouraged to cultivate an adherence to high academic standards through an enriched bilingual curriculum in language arts, mathematics, science and technology, history, geography, music, dance, fine arts and physical education. Extra-curricular programs are offered to support the diverse interests of the students. Within this child-centered approach, the learner is always an active participant, intrinsically involved in every stage of the knowledge building process. We recognize the uniqueness of all learners and the necessity of differentiation. Ultimately, our goal is to prepare our students to become life-long learners and global citizens. They evolve as internationally-minded students “with attributes and descriptors which define the type of learner the IB hopes to develop through its programme.”

Educational Project

The MEES has mandated that all schools address certain areas in their respective Educational Project. These goals are also aligned with the Strategic Plan of the Lester B. School Board. Within this context, there are particular goals that are relevant to evaluation and assessments. (Clearpoint's Educational Project is linked here).

Specifically there are strategies, indicators and targets in each of the 3 following strategic directions:

- Improving Achievement
- Ensuring Wellness
- Strengthening Engagement

Monitoring progress towards a wide range of goals within these strategic directions is measured by various methods

- School Board and or Ministry exams
- Running Records (GB+ / PM Benchmarks)
- Decodable Texts / Literacy Assessment
- Student Individual Education Plan
- Use of various feedback tools (eg. rubrics, checklists, continuums)
- Student self-evaluation and reflection with a focus on the essential elements
- Reflection on teaching & learning practices with a focus on the essential elements (formal and informal)

Perspective on Assessment

Clearpoint Elementary implements the MEES (Ministère de l'Éducation et de l'Enseignement Supérieur) Curriculum, which is divided into general competencies, broad areas of learning and subject areas. For each of these elements, a set of competencies and clear evaluation criteria are described in the MEES Curriculum. According to this document, evaluation is the process whereby judgment is made on a student's learning on the basis of information gathered, analyzed and interpreted for the purpose of making pedagogical and administrative decisions (Ministry of Education Policy on Evaluation).

Clearpoint Elementary also offers the Primary Years Programme (PYP) from the International Baccalaureate (IB). Assessment is integral to all teaching and learning. It is central to the PYP goal of thoughtfully and effectively guiding students through the five essential elements of learning: the acquisition of knowledge, the understanding of concepts, and the mastering of skills, the development of attitudes and the decision to take action. The prime objective of assessment in the PYP is to provide feedback on the learning process (Making the PYP Happen, December 2009).

Assessment Practices

Our assessment practices identify what students know, understand and can do at different stages in the learning process. These practices guide teaching and learning and in turn lead students to action as well as facilitating agency. This is achieved by discovering what the students know, collecting and analyzing data and communicating results to students & parents. This allows students and teachers to set effective learning goals. .

This process is a collection of best practices, new research and the creative ideas from our students and staff. Many of the specific tools and strategies we use are described in the PYP - Learning & Teaching document.

Assessing: How we discover what the students know and have learned

Assessment in the learning environment includes, but is not limited to:

- Collecting evidence of student understanding and thinking
- Anecdotal note-taking and observations (Documenting the learning process of groups and individuals)
- Conferencing: peer, student/teacher, student/parent
- Engaging students in reflecting on their learning (metacognition ~ self/peer-assessment)
- Promoting the six facets of understanding (McTighe, 2008)*
- Differentiating according to the needs of students (UDL)
- Using and developing rubrics provide student with clear expectations
- Showcasing, presenting and highlighting student learning
- Writing common exams prepared by the teacher, school board, and provincial ministry of education department
- Keeping records of results of a variety of tasks such as quizzes, tests, book reports, etc.

Recording: How we collect and analyze the data

The learning community at Clearpoint uses a variety of strategies and approaches to gather information about student learning.

Making the PYP happen: A curriculum framework for international primary education, p. 48

Standardized assessments are used as part of the school assessment policy to gain as much information as possible about the student, the PYP and the Quebec Education Program.

Reporting: How we communicate about assessment

Reporting to parents, students, and teachers occurs through:

- Curriculum Night: This takes place at the beginning of the school year. Parents meet the teachers and receive a comprehensive curriculum overview and evaluation breakdown. Classroom procedures and routines are explained in connection with the POI (Programme of Inquiry.)
- IEP (individualized education plan) meetings: are held at least once a year between parents and teachers to discuss the student's goals and progress.
- Interim report: Is sent home the first week in October to update the parents on whether their child has had a successful start to the school year.
- Formal report cards are given out 3 times during the year (November, March, and June). The legend of the report card is attached in Appendix 2.
- Parent-Teacher interviews take place in November after report cards are sent home. The interviews allow teachers and parents to share information. Results, samples of work are shared as well as achievements and areas for future consideration as discussed. On-going parent-teacher conferencing takes place throughout the academic year on a needs basis.
- Student portfolio (polished) is an important part of the school's reporting procedures. It is a collection of student learning and evidence of their progression through the PYP. It becomes a three-way communication tool between students, parents and teachers. The portfolio is shared at various times throughout the school year.
- Student Working Portfolio can take different forms (digital, journals, folders, notebook.) These portfolios are meant to be used as formative assessment tools. They demonstrate the students learning throughout the units of inquiry and highlight various visible thinking routines.
- Student-Led Conferences are formal reporting sessions led by the students where students' learning is celebrated with their parents/guardians. They have the opportunity to discuss their learning and explain what they have chosen to include in their portfolios.
- PYP Exhibition is a culminating project that is used to help provide an authentic process for students to express their understanding of the major features of the programme of inquiry. Students collaboratively develop their own lines of inquiry, formulate key concept questions and finally execute an action plan that is co-constructed and connected to their exhibition topic. Throughout this process, mentors play an important role in guiding and supporting the students. This culminating project is celebrated and presented to the parents, staff, and the broader learning community.

Essential Agreements on Assessment

Parent communication

All teachers are expected to communicate the PYP and the Units within the Program of Inquiry to the parents through:

- Parent Information Night at the beginning of the year
- PYP information evening
- Class Newsletters and/or emails
- The School website
- Communication Apps
- Formal invitations (Open houses, showcases, Student Led Conferences (SLC) or celebration of learning events)
- Informal invitations (classroom and school-wide initiatives)
- Student learning samples sent home for reflection
- Student portfolios
- Student Led Conferences
- The PYP coordinator will provide regular information about the PYP using a range of communication strategies, e.g. newsletter articles, parent workshops etc.
- Daily communications when necessary (agenda, phone call, email, notes, pochettes)
- Online platforms such as Seesaw, ClassDojo, Google Classroom

Assessment

Assessment Objectives are planned at the start of the unit and demonstrate clear links between the assessment tasks and all components of the planner, i.e. central idea and lines of inquiry, key concepts, teacher and student questions, learning activities.

- Assessment strategies and tools are varied and can include pre and post assessment tasks and formative and summative assessments.
- Assessments include peer and self-assessment where appropriate.
- Students are involved in the development of some of the assessment activities and tools (e.g. rubrics). Students are informed of the assessment criteria if they are not involved in the developing the assessment activities.
- Assessment informs and directs future learning (formative).

- At the school level, we are working towards addressing knowledge, concepts, approaches to learning, action and agency and the learner profile attributes.
- Teachers are familiar with the assessment policy of the school.

Student-led Conferences

- Students are involved in choosing what is shared with parents
- Students address all five of the essential (knowledge, concepts, approaches to learning, attitudes and action.) Teachers meet and greet parents and roam around the room throughout the conference.
- Classroom teachers and Specialists meet together to plan what is being shared
- Invitations to Student Led Conferences are electronically distributed at least 2 weeks prior to the date selected.
- SLC dates are published in the school newsletter and calendar for future years.

Showcase Portfolios

- Each student share their learning portfolio at the student led conferences
- Portfolios provide information about the content of the unit and at least two work samples from each unit – one in English and one in French.
- Following each unit of inquiry, students select samples to include in the portfolio
- Work samples from the specialists are included in the portfolio when what is being taught is in line with Unit of inquiry (as planned)
- Portfolios may include a range of assessment strategies and tools and can include pre and post assessment tasks and formative and summative assessments.
- Assessment samples may include peer and self-assessments where appropriate.
- Students are involved in the selection and development of some of the work samples and assessment samples.
- All work samples are teacher acknowledged in some way and should be dated
